

DO SOCIAL NORMS MATTER FOR ADOLESCENTS AND FAMILY PLANNING?

LAUNCH EVENT

SPECIAL SUPPLEMENT IN THE JOURNAL OF ADOLESCENT HEALTH featuring work from the
LEARNING COLLABORATIVE TO ADVANCE NORMATIVE CHANGE

November 11, 2018 | 5:00 — 5:30 PM Refreshments | 5:30 — 7:00 PM Launch Activities
Lemigo Hotel Conference Hall | KG 624 Street, Kigali, Rwanda

Are you interested in:

- Applying social norms theory to practice?
- Quality social norms measures and methods?
- Scaling social norms- focused interventions?

Join us to learn more about actionable insights from the Special Supplement and applying state-of-the-art findings from the Learning Collaborative to adolescents and family planning!

With funding from the Bill & Melinda Gates Foundation, the Learning Collaborative to Advance Normative Change envisions a world where the powerful influence of social norms in shaping adolescents' lives is widely understood, and where projects and programs improve adolescent sexual and reproductive health by applying normative science at scale have been taken to scale.

Authors to include:

- Dagmawit Tewahido
Addis Continental Institute of Public Health
- Laura Hinson
International Center for Research on Women

Panelists to include:

- Alem Agazi
CARE-Ethiopia
- Betsy Costenbader
FHI360
- Samantha Diouf
Girl Effect-Rwanda
- Gwyn Hainsworth, Priya Nanda
The Bill and Melinda Gates Foundation
- Susan Igras, Rebecka Lundgren
Institute for Reproductive Health

Comments by:

- Suzanne Petroni
Gender Equity Solutions
- Jeffrey Bart Bingenheimer
Supplement Editor, The George Washington University

RSVP: bit.ly/2vWJw1Q